

FRENCH DEMAND REFUSED.

REPLY OF THE BULGARIAN GOVERNMENT.

OUTLINE OF THE NOTE IN WHICH IT JUSTIFIES ITS ACTION IN THE CHADOURNE AFFAIR.

London, Jan. 5.—The statement that the Bulgarian Government has positively declined to rescind the decree expelling the French Journalist, Chadourne, from Bulgaria, is confirmed. The standard Paris correspondent says: "It is officially denied that M. Ribot, the French Foreign Minister, has sent a note imploring the Bulgarian Government to rescind the decree. The matter will be arranged amicably."

Paris, Jan. 5.—The reply of Bulgaria to the note of France demanding the withdrawal of the decree of expulsion issued by the Bulgarian Government against M. Gaston Chadourne, the agent in Sofia of the Agence Havas, a French news association, is regarded in official circles as a refusal of all the French demands made in relation to the case.

It has been learned that Bulgaria's note is voluminous. It gives in detail all the points of Bulgaria's defense of her action, and asserts that the conduct of M. Chadourne, which it characterizes as insolent, was brought to the notice of M. Lanté last November. M. Lanté was then asked to inform the French Government in regard to the state of the case, and also in regard to the intention of Bulgaria to expel M. Chadourne if he continued in his objectionable course. The note cites precedents showing that several Russians, one Greek and two Frenchmen had been expelled from the country. These two Frenchmen, the note says, were expelled without Bulgaria previously advising France of her action, and the latter Power had made no protest against their expulsion.

The note closes by declaring that it cannot be admitted that Bulgaria is bound practically to abdicate her powers, as she would have done had she previously communicated to the French Consul or to M. Chadourne the order for the expulsion of the latter, thus enabling him to take refuge in the French Consulate. The note expresses the hope that France will be actuated by feelings of justice, that she will reconsider her decision, and that she will again establish friendly relations with Bulgaria.

The action of the French Government, now that the petty Italian State has, in effect, refused to grant its demands, is eagerly awaited. The exchange of notes between the Powers is actively proceeding. It is stated here that Bulgaria has sent copies of her reply to the French demands to England, Austria, Italy and Germany.

Sofia, Jan. 5.—Count Gerbasi de Sonner, Italian Diplomatic Agent here, has issued a denial of the report that he disapproved of the expulsion of M. Chadourne. He positively declared that he disapproved of the action, he was soundly rebuffed by France on the matter, insisting that every State had a right to expel foreigners who were found to be inconvenient and dangerous.

NOORDLAND CHILDWALL COLLISION.

REPORTS OF THE STEAMER'S CAPTAIN TO RESCUE THE CREW OF THE BARK.

London, Jan. 5.—The agent of the Associated Press in this city has received a dispatch from Captain Nickels, commander of the Red Star Line steamship Noordland, protesting against the charge that the Noordland made no attempt to rescue the survivors of the British bark Childwall, which was sunk in collision with that steamer off the Wierling Lightship in the North Sea. Captain Nickels says that immediately after the collision several boats were lowered by the Noordland. A long search was made for the Childwall's crew. One of the boats lost a man, while the other continued the search all night. The latter boat did not return to the steamer, but made for the Dutch coast, which she did not reach until the next day. The Noordland, Captain Nickels says, had 500 persons on board. Her bows had been stove in the collision, and she was leaking. The captain, believing that the safety of his own passengers and crew was endangered, put his vessel about, and returned to Antwerp on Sunday night. Captain Nickels's statement is corroborated by Pilot Laming, who was aboard the Childwall.

The bows of the Noordland are above below the water line. Her fore-cabin and No. 1 hold are full of water, and the cargo in these holds is badly damaged. Her other holds are dry, and the cargo is being discharged as rapidly as possible. She will go into Drydock for repairs in about a week, and probably her cargo will be forwarded by shore steamer, as long as the Red Star Line.

"HENRY VIII." AT THE LYCEUM THEATRE, LONDON.

London, Jan. 5.—The production of "Henry VIII." to-night surpassed all of Irving's previous efforts in gorgeousness of scenery and mountings. As a spectacle of pageantry it was pronounced the finest ever seen in Holborn's theatre. The costumes were of the most elaborate and costly, and the scenery was of the most magnificent. The play was well received, and the audience was very large. The production was a great success, and the manager, Mr. Henry Irving, was well pleased with the result.

AN IRISH GIFT FOR THE DUKE OF CLARENCE. Dublin, Jan. 5.—It was recently officially announced that, in consequence of the many expressions of opinion which had reached the Duchess of Zealand, wife of the Viceroy of Ireland, from different parts of the country, that a wedding present from Ireland should be given to the Duke of Clarence and his bride, the Duchess, had been presented to the Viceroy, the Duchess had consented to preside over a representative committee to give effect to this object. As was the case with the Queen's Jubilee offerings, the committee had been composed of members of the aristocracy, under the presidency of the wife of the Viceroy. To the local committees will be intrusted the task of collecting subscriptions in their respective districts. It has been proposed that the present shall take the form of a residence in Ireland. One of the estates that has been mentioned as worthy of presentation to the Duke of Clarence is Clifton Castle, on Clifton Bay, in the West of England. Another place that has been suggested is the residence of the Earl of Clive, on the Shannon near Limerick.

THE HUNGARIAN DIET CLOSED.

Buda-Pesth, Jan. 5.—The Hungarian Diet, which today dissolved the Hungarian Diet. In closing the session, he said he was gratified that Hungary had re-established her financial equilibrium from her own resources. The relations of the monarchy with foreign powers were of the most friendly nature and afforded the best guarantee for the maintenance of peace. The new treaty between Austria-Hungary and Germany and Austria-Hungary and Italy would strengthen the political alliance between these two countries, and would respond to the universal desire for peace.

THE INFLUENZA BACILLUS DISCOVERED.

Berlin, Jan. 5.—Dr. Pfeiffer, in-law of Professor Koch, has discovered the influenza bacillus, and has transplanted it in six cases with complete success. He has also discovered the original cause of infection. The bacillus of influenza is the smallest bacillus yet discovered.

SNOWFALL AND A CAR STRIKE IN PARIS.

Paris, Jan. 5.—For the first time this winter snow is falling in this city. To the general public the snow is welcome, and it is being enjoyed by many. The snow is falling in the city, and it is being enjoyed by many. The snow is falling in the city, and it is being enjoyed by many.

ILLNESS OF M. SARDOU.

Paris, Jan. 5.—The attack of influenza from which M. Victorien Sardou, the celebrated dramatist, is suffering is so violent that he is completely prostrated.

RESIGNATION OF SIR GUY PIERRE.

London, Jan. 5.—Sir Guy Pierre, British Minister to Lisbon, has resigned his office, giving ill health as the reason for his action.

ACCIDENT TO LADY HESKETH.

London, Jan. 5.—An accident happened yesterday to Lady Hesketh, formerly Miss Florence Emily Sharon, to Lady Hesketh, formerly Miss Florence Emily Sharon, to Lady Hesketh, formerly Miss Florence Emily Sharon.

FOR CARRYING THE MAILS TO CERCAIA.

London, Jan. 5.—The mail of the Red D Line, went to Cercaia, a small town in the Province of Pisa, Italy, yesterday to be lengthened.

THE FAMINE IN RUSSIA.

London, Jan. 5.—A correspondent in making a trip through the famine districts of Russia writes: "The weather has been very dry, and the crops are very poor. The famine is very severe, and the people are suffering very much. The famine is very severe, and the people are suffering very much."

TO BE DEPUTY CONSUL-GENERAL IN LONDON.

London, Jan. 5.—The place of American Deputy Consul-General in this city, made vacant by the resignation of George C. Pitt, will be filled by the American Consul-General, who has been in the American Consulate in London for thirty years. Major F. H. H. is now attached to the London Consulate.

"CARMEN SYLVA" DANGEROUSLY ILL.

London, Jan. 5.—It is reported that the doctors who are in attendance on the Queen of Rumania despair of saving her life. The Queen is at Paltina, a town of Italy, in Piedmont, on Lago Maggiore.

BOMB EXPLOSION IN AN ITALIAN TOWN.

Rome, Jan. 5.—At Grosseto, an Italian town, exploded a bomb in front of the prefecture, as a protest against the arrest of persons connected with the explosion caused much excitement, but did not damage the building.

AN AUTHORESS IN TROUBLE.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

IN COURT FOR EXAMINATION ABOUT SOME OF HER DEBTS.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received $1,000 for it. She said that she had received $1,000 for it, and that she had received $1,000 for it.

Miss A. S. Jackson, who earned considerable unenviable notoriety as "Littles," is in financial difficulties, and yesterday she was ordered to supply supplementary proceedings. Samuel W. Reynolds, of Watertown, secured two judgments against Miss Jackson, aggregating $900, upon promissory notes. The judgments were not paid, and an order to examine her in supplementary proceedings was secured from the Judge sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, by Perry L. Klock, who was the attorney for Mr. Reynolds. In her examination Miss Jackson said that before she was of age she had written the life of Miss Hannah Perkins, and that she had received